

Sedalia Evening Democrat

NEW SERIES.

SEDALIA, MISSOURI, SATURDAY OCTOBER 22, 1892.

PRICE, FIVE CENTS.

AT THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

The Students of the High School Give a Delightful Entertainment.

The announcement that the students of the Sedalia high school would give a Columbus entertainment at the Christian church drew a large audience last night, every one of which was surprised and charmed at the excellence of the programme and the masterly way in which it was treated.

The chorus of voices was unusually fine and Miss Helen Gallie is to be highly congratulated for the capable manner in which she trained her pupils. The evening was opened by the chanting of the Lord's prayer and followed by the audience repeating it, being led by Rev. J. S. Myers.

Miss Marion Lowell, the well known Sedalia elocutionist, repeated her successes of the past by the delightful rendering of Edna Dean Procter's poem, "Columbus." Superintendent A. J. Smith then delivered his lecture entitled, "Columbus, Our Hero. No Saint, No Perfect Man, But God's Messenger to a Darkened World." A finer lecture has seldom been heard in Sedalia. It was full of poetic lines and the strong, resolute character of the old Italian navigator was made to stand out in such bold and vivid lines that even a child would not fail to remember it. He was greeted with rounds of applause throughout the delivery.

THROWN FROM A MULE.

The Unfortunate Way by Which "Fate" Mitchell, of Morgan County, Came to His Death.

John Cauliflower has returned from Florence, in Morgan county, where he attended the funeral services of his cousin, E. P. Mitchell, which took place Wednesday evening.

Mr. Mitchell was a well known and popular farmer in Morgan county and was killed in a most sudden way. On last Tuesday he was returning from a neighboring farm where he had been building a barn. It had already grown dusk. He was riding a mule while his son was walking in the rear. As they approached his barn lot, the mule began to shy at a cow lying in the road. The boy picked up a stick to strike the cow, and in so doing caused the mule to jump and throw his father heavily to the ground. He fell heavily upon his head, and when examined, life was already gone, his neck being broken.

He was 42 years of age and leaves a wife and daughter, the latter being 12 years old.

A Merited Promotion.

Charles C. Evans, an old Sedalia boy who for sometime past has held the responsible position of general bookkeeper in Auditor Pollock's office, has resigned and been appointed chief clerk in the office of Heber Page, auditor for Texas, with headquarters at Denison. Charles's friends are glad to know that his merits have been recognized in such a substantial way and trust that he will have many more promotions.

Back from a Hunting Trip.

Ed. Love is back from Climax Springs where he went with a large hunting and fishing party about two weeks ago. Dick Baker is said to be lost in the woods somewhere between the Arkansas line and the Osage river. Ed. says that they tracked him for a long distance, but his footsteps were finally lost. They are thinking of offering a reward.

Fatally Cut.

Prices ran up against the assignee hatchet last week, and was cut into fractions. Come and investigate. Tooth brushes from 5 cents up. Paints, oils and glass less than cost. Overstreet's old stand, 312 Ohio street.

and Mrs. Darius Putnam, Mr. J. L. Smith and Nora Putnam, on October 19th, 1892. They arrived in this city yesterday evening and repaired immediately to No. 1421 Ingram avenue, where Mr. Smith had nicely furnished a cosy home for his lovely young bride.

Mr. Smith is one of the popular employees of the M., K. and T. shops, and is highly respected by all who know him.

His bride is the only daughter of Mr. Darius Putnam, one of Cooper county's most prosperous farmers.

The DEMOCRAT extends congratulations to the young couple, and trusts their married life may be one of unalloyed bliss and happiness.

EXPLODING ROCKETS.

A Flambeau Boy Gets His Hand Badly Burned at the Boonville Raffle.

An accident not down on the bills, took place in the display of fireworks given by the Sedalia flambeau club at the Warner meeting at Boonville last night.

Will Kelk had three sky rockets which he was preparing to explode, when in some way one of them exploded in his left hand. His thumb and fore finger were badly and painfully burned, and his entire hand blackened by the burning powder until it could not be recognized as belonging to a white man. Dr. Heaton dressed the injuries which were extremely painful and Will is now compelled to take a lay-off.

Two other rockets which he had in a box also took fire and started on a zig-zag course along the street. One of them struck Henry Meuschke a glancing blow on the leg and ended its erratic course by striking Fred Hartshorn in the side. Luckily, neither gentleman was injured.

THE LEXINGTON ARREST.

He Does Not Seem to be the Man Wanted for the Taylor Diamond Robbery.

Deputy Marshal Wm. Golightly, of Lexington, Mo., yesterday made an arrest in that city of a man whom he supposed to be one of the three in the Taylor diamond robbery.

The fellow gave his name as J. Escort, and he was held awaiting an answer from Marshal De Long, of this city.

Marshal DeLong, after reading the description sent, at once wired the Lexington authorities that the man did not fill the description. The suspect eventually proved to be a drummer. He was of a very florid complexion and had red hair. His hand was off at the wrist instead of having his arm off between the wrist and elbow, as the genuine is said to be maimed.

Marshal DeLong has an accurate description of the man wanted and distinctly remembers him. Early in the morning on the day of the robbery he met the fellow on the street, told him he was a thief and ordered him to be out of town by 9 o'clock. He is dark complexioned and has a beard on his face.

A BAD MAN.

He Was Arrested in Sedalia—Wanted for Mayhem and Burglary and Larceny.

Chief of Police DeLong yesterday received a description of a man named Chas. Hall, wanted for mayhem and burglary and larceny at Chamois. Officer Scally was instructed to make the arrest, and found him yesterday afternoon at Third and Engineer. He was promptly locked up and Special Agent Pat M. Lally, of the Missouri Pacific, informed of it. He arrived on the afternoon train yesterday and got his man.

Hall bit off a man's ear at Chamois and stole a lot of shoes in Franklin county about two weeks ago, robbing a store. When arrested, he had just arrived in the city on Missouri freight train No. 131 from the east.

Died While Asleep.

The burial took place at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Catholic cemetery of a young man named Haley, who died at Harris, Mo., Thursday night. He was found dead in bed by his sleeping companion. It was pronounced heart disease.

Smoke the National Golden Rod, manufactured by the Sedalia Cigar Co. The only 10 cent cigar in the city.

Christian Church.

Services at the Christian church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, and Sunday evening from 7:30 to 8:30. Rev. J. S. Myers, pastor.

M. E. Church, South.

Services at the usual hours. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. Preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor at 6:30 p. m. Rev. E. P. Ryland, pastor.

Central Presbyterian.

Mrs. Walter Condit will make an address on Missions at the morning service, 11 o'clock. Mrs. Condit has recently made a tour of the mission fields in various countries and will give us a view of the work done as seen by an interested observer. She is a very interesting speaker. Evening service at 7:30. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6:30.

Broadway Presbyterian.

To-morrow morning at 11 o'clock the pastor, Rev. J. R. Stevenson, will preach on the theme: "America for Christ." In the afternoon at 4 o'clock, Mrs. Condit, who has visited all the important mission stations of Asia, will speak to the Sunday school mission society and will also exhibit some interesting articles which she has gathered in her travels. At 7:30 in the evening, Mrs. Condit will deliver a popular address on "Woman's work for women in the far east." These services are open to all, and everybody is cordially invited to be present.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Boys' meeting at 2 p. m., Sunday, will be led by Mr. Langhorne. He will take for his subject "Tops," and will tell the boys all about business, professional, labor and Christian tops, and how to reach them. The boys' orchestra will assist in the music. All boys are invited.

The men's meeting at 3 p. m., Sunday, will be interesting as usual. A fifteen minutes' song service will be held before the address, which will be made by Mr. C. C. Wells. This will be the last of our series of talks from business men, and will be exceedingly interesting. Every man is urged to be present, and a cordial invitation is extended to any strangers who may be in the city. The young man who is away from home has a special invitation to be present.

Several days ago the secretary made a visit to the Missouri Pacific shops and talked with a number of the men employed there. A warm reception was given him, and he was impressed with the need of a work for young men in East Sedalia. A meeting has been called for 4 p. m. to-morrow to take place in the East Sedalia Baptist church, at which time the secretary and other workers from the association will meet with the men in East Sedalia and talk over plans for a work there. It is confidently expected that a mass meeting will be inaugurated, which will finally result in a branch Y. M. C. A. for East Sedalia.

"The Fate of Republics."

Mrs. Anna Shaw lectured at the First M. E. church last evening on "The Fate of Republics." The lady is a most brilliant speaker and discoursed upon her subject for almost an hour and a half. Woman suffrage, the keystone to her arch, was touched upon in a most convincing way.

Mrs. B. F. Boller and Mr. J. B. Wilcox rendered two delightful songs. The ladies of the W. C. T. U. had the lecture in hand and are to be congratulated.

An Immense Lot of Mail.

The accumulation of paper mail for the south bound M., K. & T. train was something enormous this morning. Delays of trains in different directions piled a small mountain of mail sacks on the depot platform and the boys will more than probably go into Denison "stuck"—with their work unfinished.

A Man of the Times.

What the times demand is a real live enterprising merchant that knows how to please the public, who require genuine bargains to attract and hold their trade. That Louis Bahner is such an one has long since been demonstrated. He has shown that he knows what the people want and has obtained their good will by giving it to them.

other republican, even Harrison, for him. Good republicans are tired of this thing.

"What is Chauncey I. Filley doing?" "O, he isn't doing anything at all for Warner," said Mr. Tinsley, significantly. "I shall vote for Stone, yes; and for Cleveland, too, and I never before scratched a republican ticket."

Entertained Friends.

Mrs. Hardy L. Berry, assisted by Mrs. Hattie L. Poff, gave a gaslight reception from 2 to 5 yesterday afternoon at her home, No. 609 West Broadway. The affair was a most delightful one and a large number of guests were present.

The October Races.

Visitors to the city next week should not fail to give Geo. Fisher a call at 219 West Main street. He has a splendid stock of wines, whiskeys and cigars and also a good lunch room in connection. A cordial welcome is extended to all.

Faithfulness.

George McDonald. He who is faithful over a few things is a lord of cities. It does not matter whether you preach in Westminster Abbey or teach a ragged class, so you be faithful. The faithfulness is all.

HE IS A DEMOCRAT NOW.

T. R. Tinsley Says He Will Vote for Cleveland and Stone.

From the Kansas City Mail. R. T. Tinsley, ex-superintendent of public buildings, and a life-long republican, who has been in the east for several months, said last night:

"There is an ominous silence all over this country, apparently a feeling of indifference in the ensuing election, which always forbodes democratic victory. The republicans lack enthusiasm because they intend to stay at home."

"You have been in New York; do you think Cleveland will carry it?"

"He will. I have been traveling through Indiana, and I am sure he will carry that state. I also expect him to carry Illinois."

"Will Warner, in your opinion, carry Missouri?"

"No, sir; he will lose Kansas City by 1,500 votes. He has been set up as a little god by a certain faction who want to sacrifice every

"I would earnestly advise them for their good to order this paper to be punctually served up and to be looked upon as a part of the tea equipage."—ADAMSON.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—Patrons of the EVENING DEMOCRAT will confer a favor upon the management by promptly reporting any irregularity in delivery or bad condition of paper from improper handling.

Official Paper of the City of Sedalia.

CIRCULATION.

There are more Sedalia people regular readers of the EVENING DEMOCRAT than any other paper.

NEW YORK is all right and Dave Hill and Tammany Hall have made her so.

"Only seventeen more days" until William Warner's ghost dance draws to a close.

THE man who puts his money on Harrison should be careful to do his betting with a Sedalia man so that the money may be kept at home.

DAN LAMONT will return from Europe Sunday and will be on hand ready to help celebrate Cleveland's election.

THERE has been a great deal of good street work done in Sedalia. There is room, however, for a great deal more.

THE business man who fails to plant an advertisement in the DEMOCRAT is sure to miss a large crop of profitable trade.

BILLY STEELE is a successful criminal lawyer, and that is the kind of a man Pettis county wants for prosecuting attorney.

THE anguish of Chauncey I. Filley will be difficult to behold when he finds that Dick Kerens has failed in his effort to carry Missouri.

WHAT has become of Russell Harrison? One blast from his horn just now would be worth several thousand votes to Cleveland.

INDIANA is all right for the democracy, thanks to the depressing influence of the Harrison administration on the Hoosier republicans.

THERE are many residence streets in Sedalia that should be macadamized, even if the abutting property is not valuable enough to justify more costly work.

THE DEMOCRAT is read by more regular patrons of Sedalia merchants than any other paper. An advertisement in its columns will make trade by letting Sedalia families know what you have for sale.

IF all of the criminal practices which the Gazette charges against the democrats of Kansas City were true, they would not exceed in infamy the act of a radical secretary of state who made William Warner district attorney by burning the ballots of Jackson county, or that later rascality which Gov. Crittenden says sent Warner to congress by stealing Phillips ballots from the boxes and substituting those bearing Warner's name.

REPUBLICAN INSINCERITY.

There are thousands of sincere republicans who really believe they are benefitting American labor by advocating high protection.

They have had this theory pumped into them so energetically and have thought so little on the subject themselves, that they actually believe they can raise the wages of somebody else by taxing themselves.

But the leaders and the framers of the republican policy know better.

They had a chance to show who they wanted to benefit when they arranged the sugar bounties.

When sugar was put on the free list—that is raw sugar, not the sugar of commerce, for that is still taxed but the tax is reduced—a law was passed giving a bounty of two cents per pound upon American sugar.

To whom?

To the sugar planters, the capitalists who own and operate establishments where cane is grown and sugar made.

Now remember, these were the tariff advocates that made this law, and if they wished to benefit the workmen why did they not provide that these millions that are to be paid out of the federal treasury should be paid directly to the laborers?

They gave the millions to the employers of labor, and left the laborers to hustle for what they could get.

If they had desired to enrich the laborers they would have given them the bounty, but they did not do so.

If they desired to increase wages they would put a tariff tax on labor, or they would provide a bounty to be paid to the laborer.

But the bounty, whether in the shape of a protective tariff or a direct subsidy, always goes to the employers, and they, generous souls that they are, are expected to divide it up among the wage workers.

Do they do it?

Go and ask Carnegie's locked out men at Homestead.

When you get the answer you will get the measure of the sincerity of Carnegie, McKinley and their co-conspirators who have solved the problem of how to fool a good many voters a long time.

THE Gazette, the same malodorous journal that last spring denounced the democrats of this city as "hoodlums," this morning denounced the gentlemen who are now holding office in this county as a "court house ring" and a "stench in the nostrils of the people." There is such a thing as even an unscrupulous newspaper going too far in its abuse of opponents, and the Gazette seems disposed to sound the depths in the present campaign as it did in the city contest. Democrats have nothing to fear from this kind of a campaign, for in personal character and standing before the public the democratic officials of Pettis county have no reason to dread a comparison with even the best of their traducers.

THE taxpayers of Pettis county need a skilled, experienced, successful criminal lawyer, of tried and proven ability, in the office of prosecuting attorney; a lawyer who can, after a thorough investigation of a case, tell whether it is worth while to proceed in the prosecution of it and put the taxpayers to additional expense or not; and who, after deciding to prosecute a case, can prosecute it for all it is worth and hold his own with any member or members of the bar. Such a man can annually save to the taxpayers of this county thousands of dollars and bring hundreds of criminals to justice who might otherwise be turned loose upon the community, unwhipped of justice. W. D. Steele is just such a man. He fills all the requirements and should be elected.

MAJOR WILLIAM MCKINLEY is the modern Orator Puff, with two tones to his voice. He goes into the eastern manufacturing region and tells the factory operatives that he favors a high tariff in order to raise wages. Then he comes out west and tells the consumers that he favors a high tariff in order to make the products of eastern factories cheap. Whenever he is taxed with his inconsistencies he shuts both eyes and goes to talking about "wild-cat banks."

ILLINOIS tried republican rule for a long time and has grown tired of it; Kansas clung to radical rule until her people were nearly bankrupt and had to change their political policies; Iowa stuck to her traditional republican ideas until the people could no longer bear the burdens imposed. These are facts that can not be disputed, and in the face of them why should Missouri be asked to try the experiment of republican rule?

MISSOURI has shown a more solid and substantial prosperity than any of the states around her, and her influence has been felt in every direction. Her laws are fair, impartial and rigidly enforced; her government is progressive and at the same time conservative. Her light has been shed into Illinois, Kansas and Iowa, and each of these states has learned something of the wisdom that has characterized this grand old commonwealth.

THAT Mr. Blaine and Mr. Ingalls should both fall sick after making one speech each on the tariff and should be compelled to retire from the platform, raises the suspicion, says the Kansas City Star, that there is something more powerfully nauseating in the McKinley law than a cholera bacillus. The people, however, are going to put the McKinley law in a perpetual quarantine pretty soon and the danger of a panic will be averted.

IF the intelligent voter will try to follow one of those double-barreled tariff arguments of our morning contemporary, wherein it tries to explain how a protective duty can at the same time raise the wages of workmen and reduce the price of the manufactured product, he will conclude that the tariff is fearfully and wonderfully made.

MISSOURI is a democratic state and a grand, growing county like Pettis should keep in accord with the best thought in the state. Sedalia, especially, should look to it that she keeps in line with the live, influential and progressive communities. Democracy is in the air and the Queen City should take her place at the head of the procession.

BOB PRIGMORE's campaign in the county has left his opponents only one argument (?) and that is the campaign lie that he lives in Saline county. Pettis county voters will resent this disgraceful effort to deceive them, and they will make Prigmore's majority larger than it would have been had the silly story not been started.

AN alleged party named Blank, writing from nowhere to the republican organ in this state, says the Republic, promises to trade for Missouri land if Warner is elected governor. He probably wants "forty acres and a mule," and naturally expects the republican party to supply him if it regains its power.

DR. E. MUEHL has made a courteous, polite and efficient officer. The position of coroner does not pay a princely salary by any means, but Dr. Muehl would be worthy of it if he did. He is brave, manly, honest and intelligent, and under any and all circumstances can be counted upon to do his duty.

IF Pettis county is going to do anything in the way of making better roads she cannot afford to miss the opportunity of securing an experienced rock road builder as county surveyor. Tom Stanley is the man, and his election would be a long step toward getting good roads.

THERE will be older men than Charley Yeater in the senate, but there will be no abler legislators. His familiarity with existing laws, as well as extensive information on all public questions, will make him a leader from the first day of the session.

EVERY TIME a republican newspaper sees a man who is going to "scratch" Harrison it puts him down as a "Warner democrat." Really, the average "Warner democrat" is only an anti-Harrison republican.

BETTER roads mean more business. Trade increases with facilities for carrying it on.

THE people of Sedalia without distinction as to politics, recognize W. D. Wallace as the right man for constable. He will get the place, too.

THE season of the year has commenced when the progressive citizen will lend both ears to the man who wants to talk sensibly on the road question.

STAND up for Missouri, for Pettis county and for Sedalia, and while you are up stand by the men who have always stood up for their state, county and town.

COLUMBUS discovered America, but from all accounts Chicago will own it before the World's fair is over if there is anything like the attendance expected.

THE way to build up manufacturing is to put money into such as there are special reasons to think will be profitable and then patronize them when they are ready for business.

NOBODY can give a reason why Joe Hughes should not be re-elected to the office of county treasurer. He has done his duty in a way that defies criticism, while it merits endorsement.

By almost common consent J. M. Logan will be re-elected to the office of assessor which he has so ably filled in the past. The experience he has gained will be used for the benefit of the people.

IF Sedalia is going to make a fight for the state capital she must begin right and send a representative to the senate and the house who are in accord politically with the majority of both houses.

WITH hotels charging double rates and carriages at $25 per day, the "grand gouge" commenced at Chicago. If the Windy City is not careful she will kill the goose before the laying season has fairly commenced.

OF course no one expects John R. Clopton to be defeated for public administrator. His long experience, as well as his unquestioned integrity, marks him as the man to look after the interests of the widows and orphans.

COL. DAVE MURPHY, republican candidate for attorney-general, was advertised to speak at the court house last night but failed to appear, having "missed connection." He will have another accident of the same kind on November 8th.

THE only criticism ever made of Mike Doherty as an officer is that he has done his sworn duty. That criticism is the strongest testimony as to his fitness for the place he holds, and will win him the hearty endorsement of the good people of the county.

NO VACANCY.

A Statesman Who Took the Hint and Bought a New Hat.

From the Grip sack.

It is not true that "the tailor makes the gentleman," but it is true that a gentleman cannot safely neglect the tailor's service if he wishes people in general to take him for what he is. A gentleman prominent in Canadian political life was somewhat too careless in this respect.

This statesman was once upon his way to call upon a friend in Quebec, and stopped an Irishman in the street to inquire the way.

"Can you tell me where Mr. Hunter lives?" he asked.

"It's no use your going there," was the unexpected reply.

"But do you know where he lives?"

"Faith and I do. But it's no use going there."

The inquirer began to get angry.

"I didn't ask your advice. I simply want to know where Mr. Hunter lives."

"Oh, well, he lives down that street yonder—the first house round the corner; but I tell you it's no use your going there, for I've been there myself, and he's already got a man."

Mr. Hunter had advertised for a servant the day before. The statesman, so the story goes, went at once and bought a new hat.

The Nabobs.

"The Nabobs" have every reason to feel proud of the large and enthusiastic audience which greeted them last evening. A great many changes have been made for the better since the "Nabobs" appeared here last season, and those who saw this fine musical extravaganza then pronounced it one of the best of its kind. If there was a dull moment during last night's performance it was not perceptible. There is more absurdity and laughing situations in "The Nabobs" this season than its former admirers and patrons thought it possible to accomplish. It is all there, and only the eye-witness can fully appreciate Henshaw, Miss Ten Broeck and their excellent company of fun-makers. Miss Ten Broeck was wonderfully clever, as she always is, and was a great favorite. Handsome John Henshaw is perhaps without an equal in his line of comedy.—Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution.

Minstrels.

W. A. Mahara's original McCabe and Young's minstrels packed the Casino last night not only to the doors, but to the wall. The sign of "standing room only," went up long before the performance commenced, to a house into which it would have been difficult to have crowded another person. The management desires to correct the misunderstanding that there is any intermingling of the blacks and whites. It is not so. Perfect arrangements have been made for the colored people in their own section of the house.—Birmingham Chronicle.

BLAINE'S INCONSISTENCY.

His Portland Speech of 1886 and His Ophir Farm Talk do Not Jingle.

The following extract from a letter from Portland, Me., calls attention to an interesting political inconsistency on the part of Mr. Blaine:

"The demagoguery of Mr. Blaine's appeal to what he terms 'the Irish vote,' made at Whitelaw Reid's Ophir Farm, with all the attending flunkeyism of 'livered servants bearing bronze lamps' (according to the New York papers), is most apparent and transparent when compared with what he said in city hall, Portland, June 1, 1886, at a public meeting to express sympathy with the cause of home rule for Ireland. The meeting was addressed by both democratic and republican speakers and the only reference to American politics made by either is contained in the conclusion of Mr. Blaine's remarks, when he said: 'I have only one word more to say, and that word is that the Irishmen of this country should keep this question as it has been kept thus far, out of our own political struggle [applause] and mark any man as at enmity with their cause who seeks to use it for personal or for partisan advancement.' [Great applause.]

"The above quotation is from the published report of the Portland Daily Press (republican) of June 2, 1886, and will be readily recalled by the thousands who applauded this sentiment."

It Was Absent.

From Judge.

"Yes," said young Gingerly, "I loved her and she loved me, but our parents were opposed to the match."

"That was where the hitch came in, was it?" asked Barlow.

"No; that was where the hitch went out."

A Cholera Scare.

A reported outbreak of cholera at Helmetta, N. J., created much excitement in that vicinity. Investigation showed that the disease was not cholera but a violent dysentery, which is almost as severe and dangerous as cholera. Mr. Walter Willard, a prominent merchant of Jamesburg, two miles from Hel-metta, says Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy has given great satisfaction in the most severe cases of dysentery. It is certainly one of the best things cure any cold. Can you afford to risk so much for so small an amount? This remedy is intended

OBSERVATIONS.

On a "Bust."

Chicago is on a "bust." The town is painted literally red, white and blue, with just a dash of gold and yellow and green in honor of the nations which are participating in the great show and exposition to be held in Chicago in honor of the discovery of America.In many respects Chicago is the finest city on earth. There are more and handsomer private palaces here, with fewer marks of decay and distress, than in any town in the world.
There is no where else such a boulevard of castles extant as Michigan avenue. The town surpasses New York in many things, one feature of which is the parks. Another is her incomparable drive-ways.Perhaps in no other place in the world is there so much attention paid to sanitary conditions, despite the fact of the great open sewer which stretches its black and ven-omed length through the heart of the town, with one end open to the beautiful lake that girds it on the east and the other miles away in the country districts of the city where hydraulic machines are throwing the poison over into the Illinois, which river is said to carry death to the fish fifty miles from where the filth is turned into it out of the Chicago river. Great Scott! Should cholera get to Chicago!It seems wonderful, speaking of this river, that the water should be taken from its head and thrown into another river, and if I were to tell you the millions of gallons of this sewer slime that is so disposed every day you could not comprehend its vastness and would not believe my story. And though this black death ebbs to and fro with the wind and the tide, I dare say it is the safety-valve of Chicago!The water supply, which is unexcelled, is taken from about two miles out in the lake. It used to be but one mile, but the sewerage increased so fast that when the wind was in the west the taint of the sewerage was tasted in the water, and so the water-house was moved out a mile farther from shore.But about the town on a "bust." Chicago has always been a gambling old sport, and won on everything. The city attained its power and affluence by gambling with eastern capital, and dividing the profits with New England. A Chicago man could easily borrow New England money, and he went at business or speculation or manufacturing headlong with a "make or break" spirit that generally won, and so Chicago got a great credit, and thus in due time became a really great city.Finally "Big Windy" staked everything on the World's fair. The city all summer has been just waiting, listlessly, almost hopelessly, for the stake to be declared. Down at Jackson Park are the greatest exposition buildings known to man.
Mars may have larger, but the earth has never before produced anything like them. Preparations of such magnitude do great credit for even such a bragging, blustering country as is ours under Harrison's administration. But the question during the long summer was: Is there to be anything to put in these buildings?You look surprised. I don't wonder. But it's a fact that Chicago was by no means certain that many of the buildings would not stand vacant during the fair, and then what a flat flummox the whole thing would be.The cholera-infected districts of Europe are not ready with exhibits —not of cholera, but other products. The rest of Europe is excited, and it is doubtful whether with the cholera excitement and consequent quarantine delays the exhibits can be prepared and brought here in time for the "greatest show on earth." These facts, for they are so regarded by "Big Windy," are what has palsied the old bluffer on the lake, and so maybe you will want to visit the World's fair next year and maybe you will not.
But you will find Chicago well worth the visit any way, and, oh, how welcome your spare change will be to help get the town out of her awful world's fair hole, which has now for the average Chicagoan a much more disagreeable effect than a whiff from Chicago river.But whether or not the fair is a success does not alter the fact that the dedication ceremonies were great, and the town did itself proud.
The city was turned over to visitors.
Not a carriage or other vehicle was permitted on the streets Thursday and Friday from early morn until late at night except those in the line of the parade. It is doubtful whether the combined banking capital of Sedalia would pay for the bunting, flags, and other decorations exhibited in honor of thealone, the Equitable, on the Clark street front, I counted three hundred and ten flags, and they were from 3x5 feet to 5x8 feet in size.
There were even more on the Monroe street front, and several dozen decorated the side next the alley.
On each of several buildings there must have been at least a dozen bolts of different kinds of bunting, besides the hundreds of flags. And so it was everywhere. There were more flags in the procession Thursday than were carried by the federal army during the war, and much finer and more valuable.A more gorgeous parade was never attempted outside of Barnum's circus, and there were more people in it than were ever under Barnum's tent in half a dozen performances. Carriages were driven three abreast, and the civic and military organizations marched in close ranks which spread from curb to curb, and yet it was more than three hours from the time the first band passed a given point until the last club of Chicago boys had come and gone.The school children of Chicago, with small flags in their hands and capes of red or white or blue, were marshalled by their teachers and seated upon large amphitheaters prepared for them at different places, two or three thousand together, and they presented an inspiring spectacle, occasionally singing some national song or hymn.The streets were packed with the multitudes. Temporary platforms were built out of third and fourth and fifth story windows, and seats thereon were gladly taken at two dollars. One dollar for standing room in a window commanding a view of the procession was gladly paid. Twenty-five cents to one dollar was charged for the privilege of climbing up a fire-escape to the roof and sitting upon the cornices were black with people.Twenty-five cents each was paid by two girls for the exclusive use of the head of a flour-barrel in the street, and when the head gave way and one of the pretty damsels went into the barrel and the other one, like Colossus of Rhodes, went down with one foot inside and one foot outside that barrel the crowd around them lost sight of the procession and the girls felt that their fifty cents had been illy spent. One man held another on his shoulders for one hour during the procession for the sum of one dollar. One lady in a fine silk dress was unconscious of the fact that every button between the top and bottom one had given way and exposed a snowy mass of silk-weed—seeds and all.The banners were beautiful. The music was grand. And when the Scotch brigade came along with a band playing an imitation of bagpipe music the scene and conditions were magnificently poetic. Farmers' clubs carried axes and forks and spades, on the handles of which were tied rows of onions and turnips and potatoes. Blacksmiths carried anvils and hammers and horseshoes. Carpenters carried windowblinds and saws and planes. Printers carried huge composing-sticks and galleyes. Every trade was represented by barbers with razors, shoe-makers with awls, bakers with bread and all that and all that.
It was certainly immense. And I would have given ten dollars to have been at home in Sedalia, for in the crowd it was hot with steam and stew of breath and transpiratory exudations and out of the crowd it was cold and raw and chill. The scenes are much more pleasant to think about than to see if you have a head like mine that fairly lifts you off the ground with its aches and thumps and tortures, like a dozen hells turned loose inside your cranium.I cannot tell you of all I saw, and you will think from what I have said that it was a great occasion to miss—you to put your own construction on the statement.I wish all Sedalia could have had the front of one twenty-story building to themselves and there reviewed the procession and cheered Governor Flower or Governor McKinley or any other governor they had chosen to have hallowed for.The two mentioned seemed the most popular with the crowds.The uniforms of the national guard officers were gorgeous, and no one seemed to be less than a colonel—and no ordinary colonel, either.At another time I may give some of my observations in a general way into which I may be able to infuse some additional details of interest concerning what I saw when I visited the great town "on a bust."Fresh cream taffies 15c per pound,

AN EXPERT IN COW FLESH.

What He Didn't Know About Cattle
Brands Wasn't Worth Knowing.Some years ago when the cattle business was in its prime in Texas and wealthy stockmen accompanied their shipments to the eastern markets a party of these genial, free-and-easy gentlemen were entertained by their city friends at breakfast in the Palmer house, Chicago.Naturally the convention was somewhat stocky."Bless your soul!" exclaimed a much-gold-watch-chained individual from Kansas City, "I never depend on the weigher in an estimate of my cattle. I can size a steer up with my naked eye within a few pounds of where he'll tip the beam.""Oh yes," said one of the hosts.
"You know our famous stockwoman on East, Middy Morgan, was wonderfully proficient in that line. All the big buyers wanted her opinion of a steer before anybody else's.""Gentlemen," broke in an old lonehorn who had been apparently absorbed in a prolonged and frantic effort to cut his steak. "Gentlemen," laying down his knife and fork, readjusting his glasses and reflecting surveying the adamantine morsel, "I reckon you would be surprised if I was to tell you that I am that perfect on cow flesh that I can tell the brand that was on the steer that steak was cut off of?"They all confessed that that would indeed be carrying the science to a wonderful degree of proficiency."Well, gentlemen," the oracle continued solemnly, "I'll bet $500 and throw in my gun to boot that that steer was branded 'B.C.'" cottage. Mr. Hoffman is violently ill.Tom Hickey, of the Parsons general offices, is at the M. K. & T. hospital, confined to his bed and will probably be laid up a week or more. Tom says that he would rather work on the section than be a sick man. His many warm friends trust that his recovery will be rapid.The finest oysters served as you
